

Clare Diefenbach is Legislation Counsel with the Joint Committee on Taxation, where she advises members of Congress on legislative proposals relating to retirement plans, health care, executive compensation, and employment tax. Previously, Clare was a Senior Technician Reviewer in Employee Benefits, Exempt Organizations and Employment Taxes at the Office of Chief Counsel, Internal Revenue Service.

Clare earned her B.A in History from Northwestern University and her J.D. from Harvard Law School. After law school, she worked as an Associate in Employment & Benefits with Mayer Brown before clerking for the Honorable Deborah L. Cook on the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit. After her clerkship, she worked as a Tax Law Specialist in Employee Plans at the Internal Revenue Service.